BASEBALL

South Paris High 22; Norway High 1. The Norway High School outfit fell in to rough hands Saturday afternoon while playing a return game at the South Paris High School grounds. Norway was unable to fool the Paris batsmen even with three twirlers. Two Norway pitchers were sent to the 'stables' and a third held back the tide after the team had been scraped inside and out. While Norway tapped the ball freely, sharp fielding and inside baseball nipped golden opportunities. On the other hand, Paris featured long drives and slammed about everything that cut the plate. The visitors were unable to handle the barrage of rapid fire stuff and the game soon landed in the "scrub ball" class.

The game resembled regular goods to the fourth inning, but a slugging episode and eight runs chargeable to Paris quelled the works and stepped on the gas. The result:

Leslie Bannister of New York City and Mabel Alice Laycock of Corsethorne, Scotland were married Saturday afternoon at the Congregational Church. Rev. Fred Bannister, father of the groom, was the officiating clergyman who used the single ring service.

The bride was gowned in bronze Canton crepe and gold lace, with hat to match and carried bride's roses. She was on the arm of Cecil Bannister, Nollie Bannister, gowned in peacock blue satin, carrying pale pink roses, as bridesmaid.

After a family luncheon, the bride and groom left by auto. The bride's traveling suit was chocolate brown broadcloth with hat to match.

After a two weeks' honeymoon, they will make their home in New York City, where the groom holds an important position.

The Twilight League, including teams from the Paris Manufacturing Co., the Mason Manufacturing Co., and the South Paris clerks, is well underway, with two or more games a week after 5 p. m. Wednesday afternoon the clerks wrapped up the Mason Co. with a 13 to 7 score.

The two factories clash on Friday afternoon. Excitement runs high with the teams fully supported on the side lines. "Hen" Elliott, the veteran dopest, is one of the fans who usually announces the correct result several innings before the finish.

Mrs. Ralph Cole is confined to her home with a sprained ankle.

Popular moonshine is wicked stuff as demonstrated at a certain business place here recently. A man with a supply of the liquid lightning aboard, while transacting business at the office spilled a few drops from his mouth on the polished hardwood desk. Some minutes later the office assistant removed the offending liquid, but a white spot remained on the varnish as a persistent witness to the strength of the beverage.

A Confirmed

Statement

Evidence Norway, Readers' Will Appreciate

Doan's Kidney Pills have done splendid work in this locality.

Have merited the unstinted praise they have received.

Here's evidence of their value that none can doubt.

It's testimony from this locality twice-told and well confirmed.

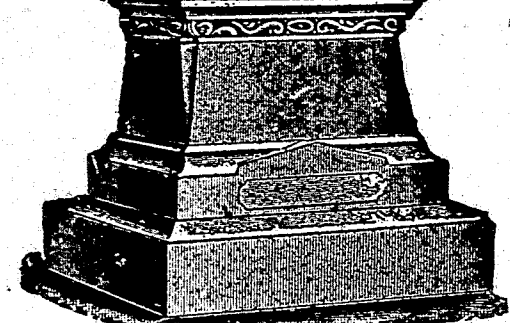

Such endorsements are unique in the annals of medicine.

Should convince the most skeptical Norway reader.

E. C. Libby, tax collector, Sanborn St., Norway, says: "I had a great deal of backache which annoyed me to do any thing. Not only this, but my head ached and I noticed specks floating before my eyes and my sight blurred. I used different remedies but it was left to Doan's Kidney Pills to give me lasting results. I got Doan's and since using them I have had no return of kidney complaint."

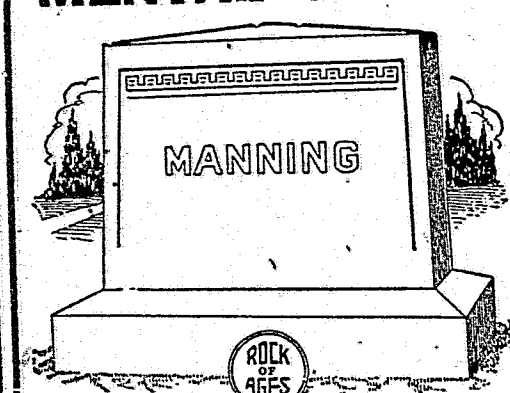

(Statement given June 6, 1916.)

On September 3, 1920, Mr. Libby said: "I haven't had occasion to use Doan's Kidney Pills or any other kidney medicine since being cured by Doan's. My faith in this remedy is just as strong as ever."

E. P. CROCKETT, Florist

Porter Street

SOUTH PARIS

FROM FLORIDA TO MAINE

By Lydia Lord Shedd

Our second night in Georgia was at Oak Park, a farmhouse kept by Mr. Holmes. A heavy thunder storm came up and we drove in to escape it. The storms are something terrible here. They invited us to spend the night with them and such hospitality was never met with before, as we enjoyed there. They raise nearly everything they eat, corn, rice, sugar cane. They had an old iron mill they ground their cane into like the older mills in years past. A long arm that turns by hand or mule power, and a press. They gave us a dish of the finest syrup we ever tasted of and some of the sugar. They keep bees and we had a lot of honey in the comb they gave us to take along with us. In the evening peanuts were roasted, half a bushel of them, the Spanish peanuts, very nice, gave us some of those to eat and plant. They will grow in the North if on good ground, and do well. There was a large oak grove and pecan nuts. They fattened their hogs on the nuts and acorns. Cows and swine were all branded and allowed to run at large. Good well of water here. The Carolinas had about the same soil and good roads, raised tobacco, rice, peanuts, peaches, pears, plums, grapes, beans, peas, corn, potatoes, groves of walnut and pecan, many warehouses where tobacco was cured.

The first rocks and cobble stones we saw were on the road side in North Carolina. No swine or cattle were allowed to run at large in South or North Carolina. Many large fields of grain, oats and wheat, large droves of hogs inclosed, also geese, turkeys, chickens, many goats and sheep. On our trip through Georgia and the Carolinas saw 7 dead dogs on roadside, killed by autos. We had a mascot in the shape of a Florida kitten we brought home with us. We raised it in Vero and G. S. Marr christened it Vero.

One night at Jordan Inn, Monetta, S. C. on the Atlantic Highway we spent. Had fine chicken supper, splendid rooms. Very congenial and homelike people. Enjoyed some very good music, vocal and instrumental. Their daughters are fine violinists. A very pleasant evening was passed here with the host and hostess and other guests. An open fireplace was much enjoyed by all. They keep turkeys, geese and chickens to supply their own table. Had a beautiful peacock on the grounds.

Stopped at Oak Hill Monroe, N. C. Some other travelers had some tents in the yard. Very accommodating people. Good water here, something we prized very highly. Put up at Briggs Hotel, Boidton, N. C. one night. Fine accommodations, house all by ourselves, colored servants, wood fires, good water, rich milk and every convenience one could wish. We had a long cold ride in the rain, and were some pleased with our snug quarters.

We were fortunate in finding good places everywhere we went but this place we could have spent a week in and then have regrets at leaving but we made a flying trip through these last three states. All were anxious to reach home, didn't stop for much sight seeing. With one of the best drivers in many states and good roads and a splendid car that gave no trouble we surely enjoyed every minute. Will tell about the beautiful caverns of Luray, V. A. in my next letter.

Catarrhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. Catarrhal Deafness requires constitutional treatment. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE is a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflammation of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a running sound or impaired hearing and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation is reduced, your hearing may be destroyed forever. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE acts through the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system, thus reducing inflammation and restoring normal conditions.

COMPETITIVE STORIES

Comparison of Travel in the Past with Travel in the Present
Henry Favor

In the olden days when America was young the modes of travel were very poor. The greater part of it was done on horse back or canal boats because there were no bridges for wagons to cross on. Later bridges were built and the stage coach was used. These were big heavy wagons drawn by two or three pairs of horses. The large rivers furnished a good means of opening up the west. People built canal boats and sailed down the river as far as they wanted to go.

To-day it is quite different. Great trains are rushing along all over the country drawn by giant steam and electric horses. They carry hundreds of people and travel so fast that they can go across the country in a few days while it used to take two or three months. People can go anywhere in the world in great liners that are regular hotels traveling at five times the rate of a sailing vessel. Millions of people ride in autos all over the country. They ride over improved roads such as an early settler never thought of. Those that do not have autos ride in the electric cars. Now they are making aeroplanes that will travel a lot faster than even the locomotives, thus making travel even more quicker than it is now.

A House of Peculiar Construction
Horace Brown

Far away on a deserted lumber road there is a house which has a piazza and all modern external conveniences of a city residence. It is always well painted although no one is ever seen about it. It is so old that our grandparents have wondered about it since early childhood. Only one person ever entered it and he never came back. Superstition has kept away all other curious people only to get near enough so as to get a good look at it.

One day in the adventurous year of 1923 a young man started to solve the mystery or die. He walked boldly up to the house but instead of going to the door he crawled through a low window. When his feet touched the floor the room was filled with what looked to be lightning, a bolt struck him and he crumpled to the floor. The great voltage of the current soon dried him to dust. The whole village was waiting within sight of the building. After he entered not a word was said by anyone for hours. At last sure that he would never return they went back.

Years later the grandson of the fellow who was killed went to try his luck at solving the mystery. All these years the house was in good condition. The man went up to the door of the house and rang the bell as cordially as if he were a friend calling. To his great surprise a butler, opened the door and escorted him to an elegant living room where several well known inventors were sitting. A noted man said, "I am sorry sir but now that you have entered this house you can never go out."

"I should like to know the reason," said the man. "Because," said the inventor, "this house is owned by the 'National Invention Protective Society.' This building is used for living purposes, below is a large experiment room. All inventors wanting to work secretly come to this house by way of the longest underground tunnel in existence. It extends into my home in New York City 100 miles from here. In the tunnel there is an electric railway by which we can go from the city to here. In all rooms there are electrical devices by which your grandfather was instantly killed. We were very sorry he got killed but he entered the house as a burglar and had to take the payment for doing so. I hope you can find enough to keep you interested around here because we cannot let you go for we are afraid of exposing the inventions."

Betty's Silver Cup
Catherine E. Longley

Betty and Mary were paddling down the river in their light Sponson canoe. There was to be a large Tennis Contest at the next village and instead of going on the train they went in the canoe.

"Just see where that sand slide was over there, why, Mary Morton just look where the train track runs along that bank, can't you see why there are sand and rocks sliding down this minute!"

The words were hardly out of Betty's mouth before a large rock fell from the above bank into the water not more than four rods away.

"What shall we do," cried the girls in alarm. "The special train will soon be coming and the track is all to pieces where the ground underneath has broken away."

In the distance the girls could hear the whistle of the train with their parents, brothers, sisters and friends all on it.

"I know," cried Mary. "Here Betty listen to me."

But Betty had already paddled to the shore and tied the canoe to a tree. Both were silent as Betty picked her way up first right and then left.

She grabbed a bush but it broke away from her. She grabbed others till finally she reached the bank breathless. She sat down for a minute.

Another whistle sounded and she was on her feet walking up the track, just as the train came into sight.

When the engineer saw the girl he stopped the train and people poured out while Betty told her story.

And Betty was a lot more pleased with the silver cup the railroad company gave her than the prize she won at the Tennis Contest.

A Fishing Trip as Told by Barbara Doris McAlister

We rode about five miles before we got to the pond. It was not very warm but because it was early in the morning.

"We were quite hungry so we ate some ham-sandwiches."

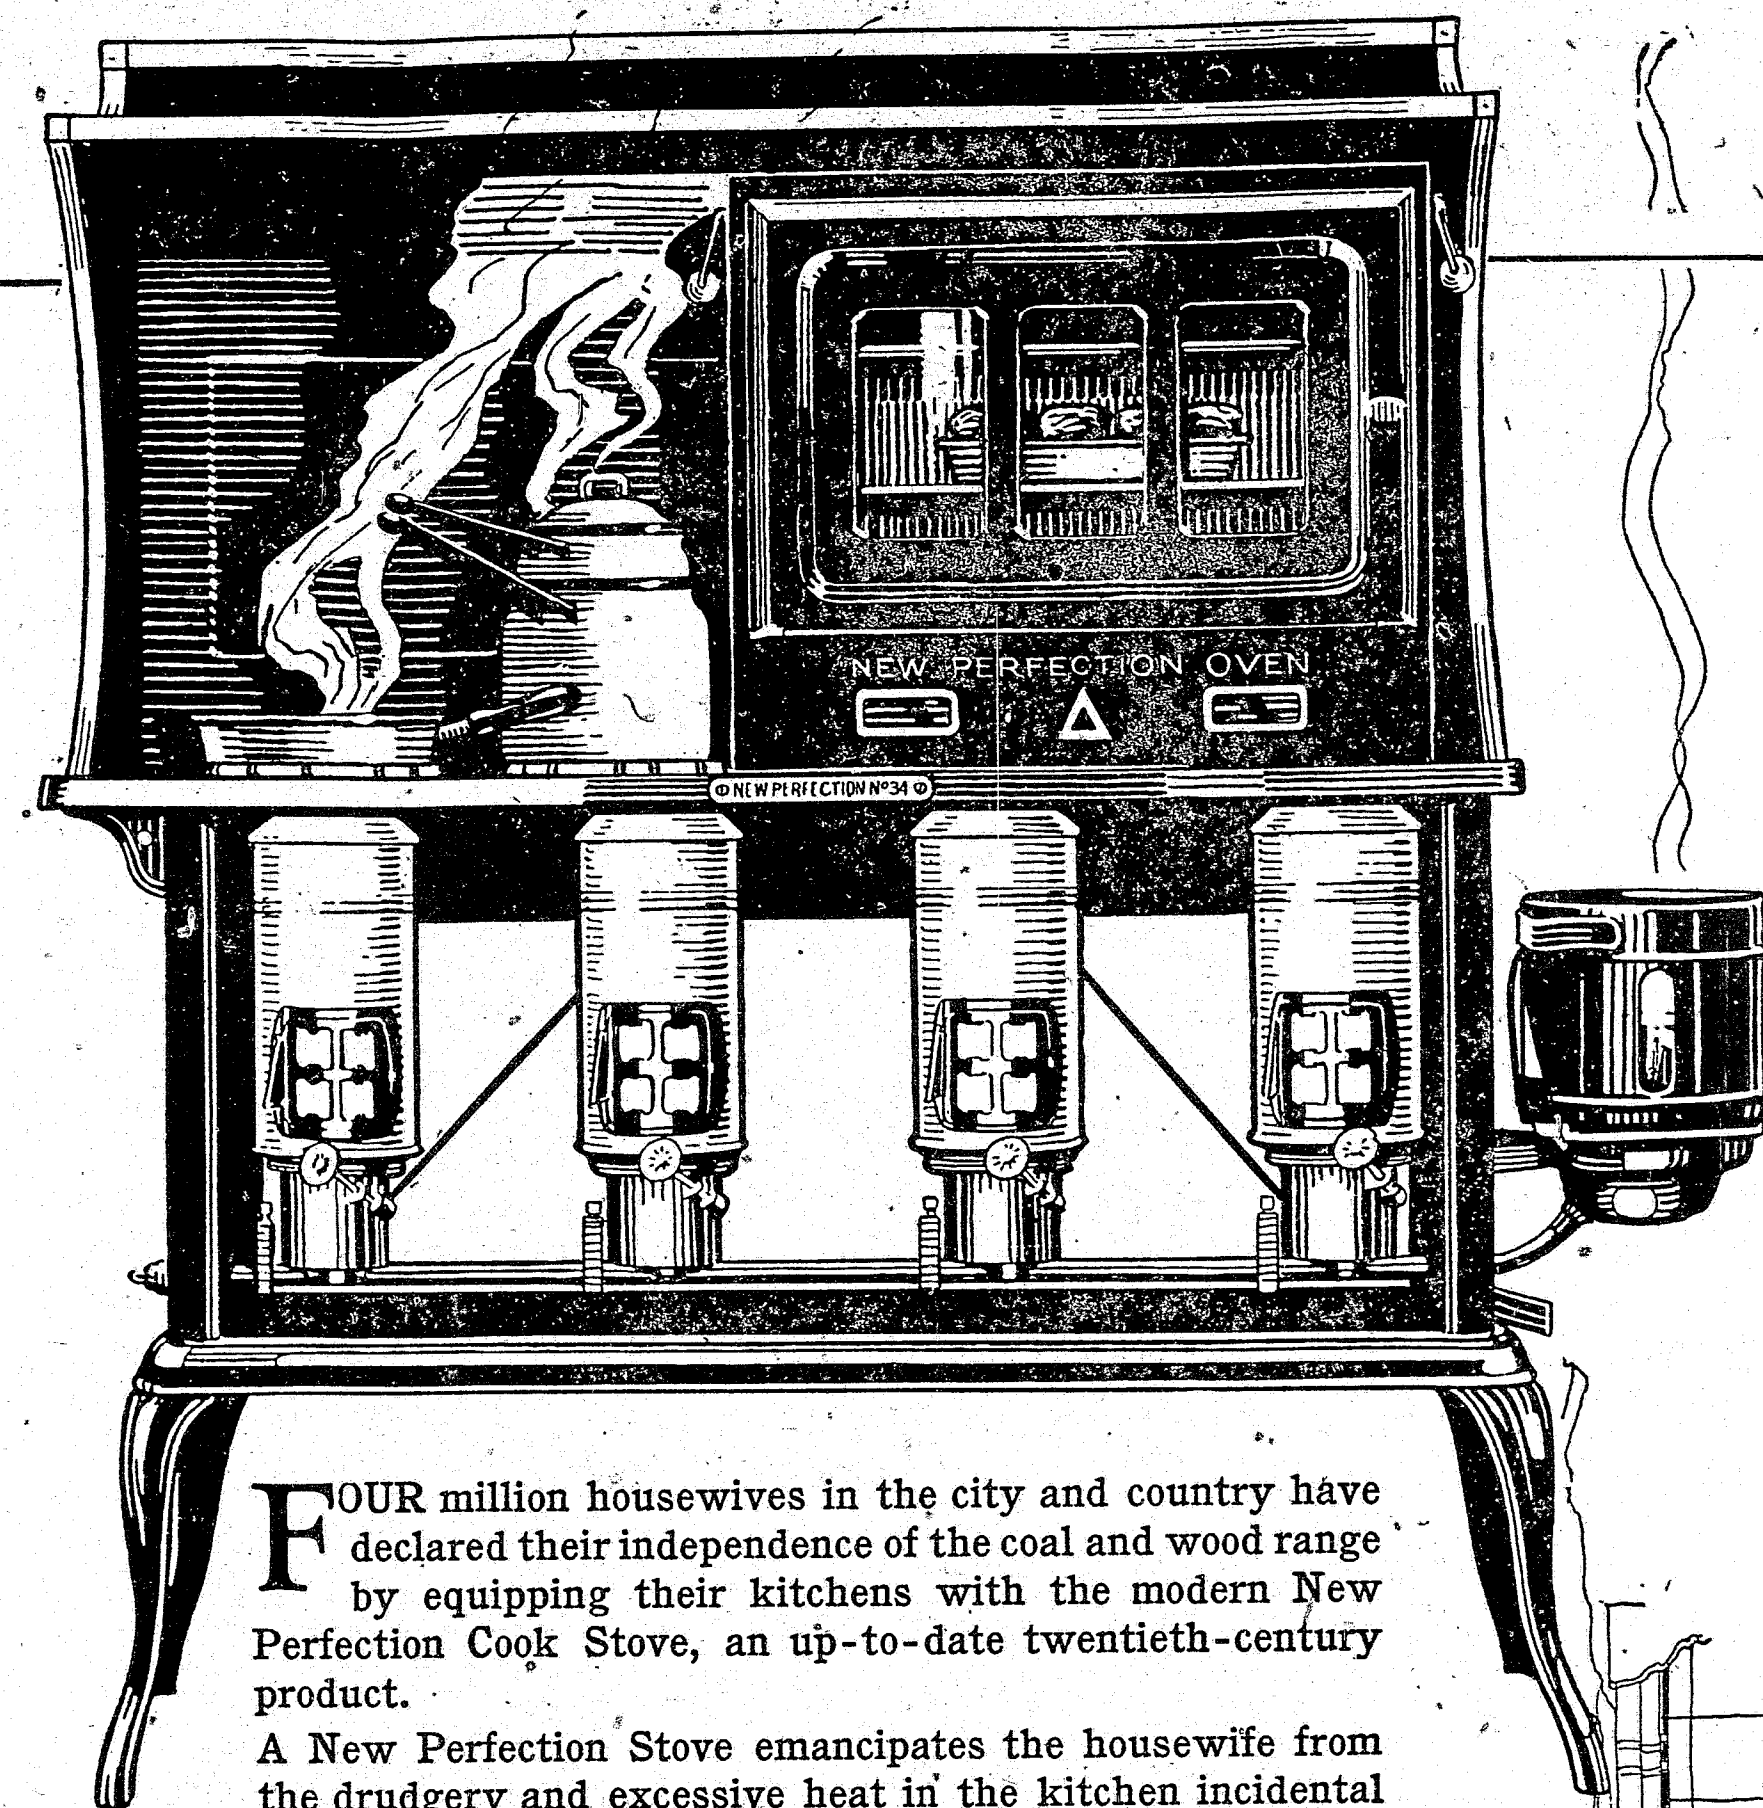

"You know yourselves that I have never been fishing before, so I did not know what to do. I watched Donald and Aunt May and then I started. The thing I don't like about it is baiting the hook."

"Why don't you like it dear?" asked her mother.

"Because it seems a shame to put those innocent worms on the hook."

"Well what we want to know now is how many fish you caught and how large they were."

"I didn't catch any at first but after a while I caught a little tiny one that Donald called a brook trout. Then my luck began. I caught a salmon that weighed a pound and a half, and a trout morous in every way. This personal record should not be overlooked for the items are pointed and well applied.

The athletic department, the boys and girls basketball teams have stories of the games and well edited summaries. No pains have been spared to make the list of alumni complete as possible, from the year 1879 to the present. In this department will be found a record well worth the price asked for the magazine as it will not only renew old acquaintances, but prove valuable for reference.

Illustrations in half tones are shown with the text, especially attractive are individual pictures of the graduates, each accompanied with a pithy description. Full page pictures include the faculty, the Caduceus editorial staff, athletic teams and other groups.

The magazine carries many pages of local advertising which has in a large measure financed the enterprise and made possible an issue of this size.

GRADUATING CLASS Norway High School Class of 1923

Baccalaureate Service

Practically every seat in Norway Opera House was occupied Sunday evening for Norway High School baccalaureate exercises, which commenced at 7:30 o'clock.

The seniors in cap and gown and the undergraduates marched to seats reserved in the auditorium. Ober Kimball was marshal for the seniors; Elizabeth Hall led the juniors, Junetta Dinsmore the sophomores and Herman Judkins the freshmen. After a selection by an orchestra, Rev. G. H. Newton of the Baptist Church gave the invocation and Marion Haskell rendered a fine violin solo, with Ruth Cummings at the piano.

Scripture was read by Rev. T. C. Chapman of the Methodist Episcopal Church and the congregation led by the orchestra joined in the hymn "Serenity."

The fine discourse delivered by Rev. C. G. Miller, pastor of the Universalist Churches at South Paris and Norway, was a strong appeal for the young people to keep close to righteousness, making useful and honored citizens.

After the offering Mrs. Mary Mealand Stone sang a beautiful solo with Ruth Cummings accompanist, and Rev. Mr. Miller pronounced the benediction. The congregation remained seated during the recessional while the classes retired.

The Caduceus

The June number of the Caduceus, Vol. 17, a magazine published by the students of Norway High School, is on sale and should interest all friends of the school. The issue is dedicated to the faculty, for splendid work which they have done for the untiring efforts which they have given, and for all their hearty co-operation.

The magazine includes editorials, the salutatory and valedictory, class poem, class history, address to undergraduates, presentation of gifts, class prophecy, ode and other class parts. Numerous original short stories are entertaining, and crisp school happenings are right to the point. The dramas have a place with a complete cast of characters.

"Pointers," well known as a close-up of the real human side of school activities have a conspicuous position, and humorous in every way.

This is to certify that I have given my son, Philip M. Mayberry, his freedom during the last of his minority, and that I shall take none of his pay nor pay any of his bills after this date.

Mrs. Rebecca Haggett

Mrs. Rebecca Haggett passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. G. M. Stevens, Wednesday, May 16th 1923, aged 89 yrs. and 4 days. Mrs. Haggett was born in Standish Me., May 12, 1834, the daughter of Benj. and Nancy Haskell. In 1856 she married Joseph H. Haggett and came to Waterford to live in 1871 and finally settled on the Ephraim Davenport place. Three children were born to them and all are living and followed their aged mother together to her last resting place in Pine Grove Cemetery, Norway, Elmer who lives at South Paris, Nancy McCellis of South Hancock and Jennie, wife of G. M. Stevens of East Waterford with whom she has made her home since the death of her husband in 1901.

Mrs. Haggett had a great memory and has been a remarkable woman to meet. Although severely afflicted with rheumatism (being unable to get around only by the use of her crutches or wheel chair) and with eyes that were very dim with cataracts yet she was always cheerful, and has been able with the help of a reading glass to read the daily papers and keep posted on the current events of the day.

She has knit many yards of beautiful lace and the many braided rugs in the home show the work of her patient hands for she was never idle. She will be greatly missed not only in the home circle but by her many friends who enjoyed a neighborly call with her.

Funeral services were held at the home Friday the 18th at 1:30, Rev. T. C. Chapman of Norway officiating. The bearers were O. H. Pride, G. L. Hilton, Herbert Walker and George Gray. Spiller & Fogg of Norway were in charge.

Mrs. H. E. Charles

In the restless condition of the World to-day, the minds of older people revert to earlier days, and dwell on its "happenings" and feel that the former days are more to be desired; but we have to admit that there were wars and rumors of wars "in the good old times," and inasmuch as I was more or less connected with the dark and saddening stories of the days of the war of the Revolution, and other disturbances, until the war of the Rebellion ending, in 1865. This theme is uppermost in my mind to-day.

My grandfather Barrows was a Revolutionary Soldier, his death occurring in Norway in 1839, when I was about five years of age, old enough to remember his appearance. To my grandmother who survived him many years I am indebted for incidents of their early history—war experiences and their marriage, which took place on his discharge at the close of the war. Having decided to make their home in Maine their wedding journey from Boston to Portland was of a rather unique character.

On arriving in Boston from Bridge-water, Mass. they found a woodcock ready to sail, and on this boat they decided to take passage. They were tossed about by winds and waves for three weeks before they landed at Portland, Maine. On their arrival, my grandfather purchased a horse which carried his bride, while he walked, finding the way by spotted trees to the new home in Hebron, forty miles I think from Portland. They had a new log cabin and land on which they hoped to make a living. I do not know how this humble home had been prepared for them unless a relative who preceded them secured it. For many years there were great disturbances during the settlement of the country though all desired peace after war and the terrible ravages of the Indians.

Then later came the question of the Boundary Line, or the war of the Aroostook, sometimes designated the "Maine-War," when my only brother the eldest of the family marched away to Augusta as a soldier. There was trouble over the lines for several years, but it was amiably settled when Maine ceded a portion of her territory to the British and the United States received territory of much greater value on the borders of Lake Champlain and Superior under Pres. Tyler's Administration.

The troops returned to their homes after what my father termed, an almost bloodless war, in 1842. Then in 1846 a dispute between the United States and Mexico concerning boundary lines, when the United States secured from Maine what is now Texas. My connection with this war lies in the fact that a relative departed for the conflict as a volunteer.

The American people generally fought against great odds; their forces being much less than their opponents, but pressing on they made a triumphant entry into the city Sept. 14th 1847. The Mexican colors now disappeared from the Palace; a regimental flag now took their place, and directly afterward the Stars and Stripes were hung out, and waved proudly from the Halls of the Montezuma, the first strange banner, that had ever floated from that Palace, since the conquest of Cortez. Peace was not of long duration.

The tremendous political excitement which convulsed the nation in 1859, growing out of the agitation of the Slavery question brought together two of the most able men namely, Abraham Lincoln, and Stephen A. Douglas. The two men were candidates for the Senate seats in Congress, not only that their names were also being discussed for the Presidential Campaign of 1860. No doubt there are many who remember the marvelous seven days debate between the two men, intellectual giants, said to be about equal in points of law, etc.

Feeling ran high as the result of these debates throughout the country, and antagonism increased. The contest ended in the re-election of Mr. Douglas as senator and the nomination and election of Mr. Lincoln for President. As the time passed the struggle became more bitter, and the North and South were divided by the news of the bombardment of Fort Sumter, and later the call for 75,000 volunteers. I'm not attempting to write a history of the Rebellion for every one is familiar with the details. My object is to speak of the loyalty to the Union, not only of my native town of Norway, but of the entire state.

Who of us can forget the splendid readiness of the young men of our town who responded to the first call to arms—and the equally splendid response of the women who bore the separation with such courage even though many might be destined never to return; the responsibilities so bravely met by the mother left with little children, and the suspense of uncertainty made life almost unbearable.

Who can forget the march through Baltimore of some of our men and the first battles of the war, the defeat at Bull Run with its disastrous results and the great heroism displayed. At the first call it seemed impossible that the struggle would be a prolonged one, but as time went on more troops were needed—land men who had had no thought of entering the strife were ready to leave homes and little children to defend the glorious cause of saving the Union. Nor can we forget the home coming of these brave men who left all in defence of their country to find some homes saddened by the loss of loved ones.

The pride which we felt for our townsmen can never be expressed, and their readiness and loyalty with which they have met all emergencies deserve praise for all time.

As for myself I'm proud of my birthplace and feel privileged to have been a resident for so many years in the past.

In my next article I shall take up a subject of the different religious denominations, in the old days, and the different "meeting" houses, in which they worshipped, for there were no churches.

Cuts Better
Lasts Longer

You will appreciate the John Deere Mower the moment you see it in action. You will notice particularly its simplicity, its great cutting power and the ease with which it is handled. These advantages, combined with the extra years of service it gives, makes the John Deere a mighty profitable mow investment.

JOHN DEERE MOWER
The Mower with the Balanced Gears

The driving gears on the John Deere are balanced—one set offsets the thrust of the other set. This eliminates side wear and strain. This mower transmits maximum power to the high grade carefully-fitted knife—that's why the John Deere does a better job of cutting and pulls lighter.

Another feature—if after years of use, lag develops in the cutter bar, this can be taken out—the bar is aligned by a simple eccentric adjustment. The John Deere handles easily. The bar can be raised high with the foot lever to pass over ordinary obstructions. With the hand lever an extremely high lift can be secured quickly and easily. It's no job to keep the John Deere in good running order. All parts are easily replaced; adjustments easily made—its simplicity is a real feature.

Be sure to see this mower before you buy.
It's the best mower we have ever seen.

BOY SCOUT NOTES

Scout Officials Hold Spring Council Meeting

The spring meeting of the Oxford County Council B. S. A. was held at the Oxford County Scout Camp at Lock's Mills, Friday, May 25th. Some Thirty Councilmen attended and brought a spirit that compared well with the good weather of the day. Many matters of importance were successfully completed. President George R. Morton stated that, whereas, last fall, the Council was in debt some one thousand dollars, they were now ahead of the game with a brilliant outlook for the future.

The meeting opened at 3:00 o'clock sharp with George R. Morton as the presiding officer. He gave a talk on National Scouting and the progress of Scouting in Oxford County. This was followed by the Treasurer's Report showing all bills paid to date and a Treasury Surplus. (The matter of new officers was not discussed.) A vote of thanks to the retiring officers was given. Both men, Herbert C. Rowe, Treas., and Arthur R. Stowell, Com'r., gave answering speeches, stating that their goal will be forever behind scouting and that they were glad to see the bright outlook ahead of Oxford County Scouting.

The entire re-election of officers speaks well for Scouting and its successful future. The following prominent men head the list of 1923 officers.

Pres.—George R. Morton, South Paris, Treasurer and Manager Paris Mills Co. V. Pres.—William J. Upson, Bethel, owner and manager Bethel Inn. V. Pres.—E. M. Morley, Rumford, Supt. International Mills.

Sac.—E. L. Stinson, Dixfield, Cashier Dix. Branch, Rumford Falls Trust Co. Treas.—G. L. Curtis, Norway, Treas. Norway Savings Bank. Commissioner—W. L. Chase, Canton, Supt. Schools, Canton and Livermore.

(Past commissioner and camp director in Massachusetts).

A report of plans for 1923 Scout Camp showed everything well underway for the successful caring of 300 scouts. A minimum camp period of six weeks is being figured on. By vote of the Council, the camp rate was set at $1.00 per day per scout. This includes board and room, boats, instruction, medical care, (everything outside of spending money). The Oxford County Scout Camp has an able corp of directors all of whom are past scouts raised in Oxford County.

P. S. Each troop must clearly understand that this classification is only approximately right. The 100% performance, weather conditions, roads, etc., makes a perfect classification impossible.

Team work was the high goal in this contest. Speed work is of secondary importance. Team work counts 100 points to each troop's yearly record. Each troop in the First Group gets 40 Additional Points. Each troop in Second and Third group gets 20 Additional Points.

The entire Relay Route was measured again by Executive Perham. The new Buick car (Registered Stewart Speedometer), owned by Carl Dunham, South Paris, covered the course. Each separate relay route was measured separately. After each route was measured the figures on the Trip Dial were turned back to zero. All mistakes as to distance were easily traceable to shrinkage of rope. The course was re-measured in order that any arguments as to various distances would be settled definitely. Also, the re-measurement acts as a safeguard to each troop.

Frank P. Stone Celebrated Birthday

Three score years and ten was the mark reached by the veteran Norway druggist, Frank P. Stone, on Monday, June 4, and he celebrated the event in a proper fashion. Smokes were handed his business associates along the street, with an explanation of the 70th milestone had been reached. In many cases this was the first hint that years were advancing and piling upon his shoulders.

Mr. Stone is young for his years and altogether a mighty spry individual. His hustle in business affairs is well known, but it remains for the baseball fans to see him at his best game. His enthusiasm and love of the game roll many years from his shoulders and he has often proved the wildest side line supporter Twin Towns ever had.

Mr. Stone is also observing the 50th anniversary of the founding of the business which he acquired about 24 years ago, after serving a year's clerkship. He is the oldest person in years among the business men, and said to be the only trader to be doing business in the same building where the shingle was hung up thirty-five years ago. William C. Long, it and V. W. Hills have conducted continuous business over a longer period, but not in the store where beginnings were made.

Stephen Cummings, Harold Drake and Raymond Winslow spent several days fishing at Bemis. They secured a few fish and had a fine camping trip.

Hon. B. G. McIntire has been made director of the Federal Farm Loan Board for the Springfield district, to supervise the new agricultural credit system. The choice was made by a ballot of the co-operative and marketing associations in the district.

Mrs. Charles B. Osgood returned from Lowell, Mass., Monday evening. Her daughter, Mrs. Lena O. Russell of Farmington, N. H., came with her for a visit. Fay Blake has moved his family from the A. C. Hollingsworth rent on Cottage street to the Smith house on Deering St. The Hollingsworth rent has been papered and painted throughout and leased to parties from Portland.

Fire destroyed some lengths of board fence, Monday, on the easterly side of Oxford County fair grounds. A still alarm called Chief Charles Bowker of South Paris and Chief Giles Frost with a number from the departments who fought the blaze with pails and chemical extinguishers.

Albion L. Buck has been in Boston several days on business.

Rev. John L. Wilson of the Baptist Church supplied at the Universalist Church, Sunday afternoon for Rev. C. G. Miller, who preached the baccalaureate sermon at Andover.

EAST OXFORD

Pratt Neighborhood

H. M. Pratt was in Portland recently on business. He is shipping lumber from Oxford station.

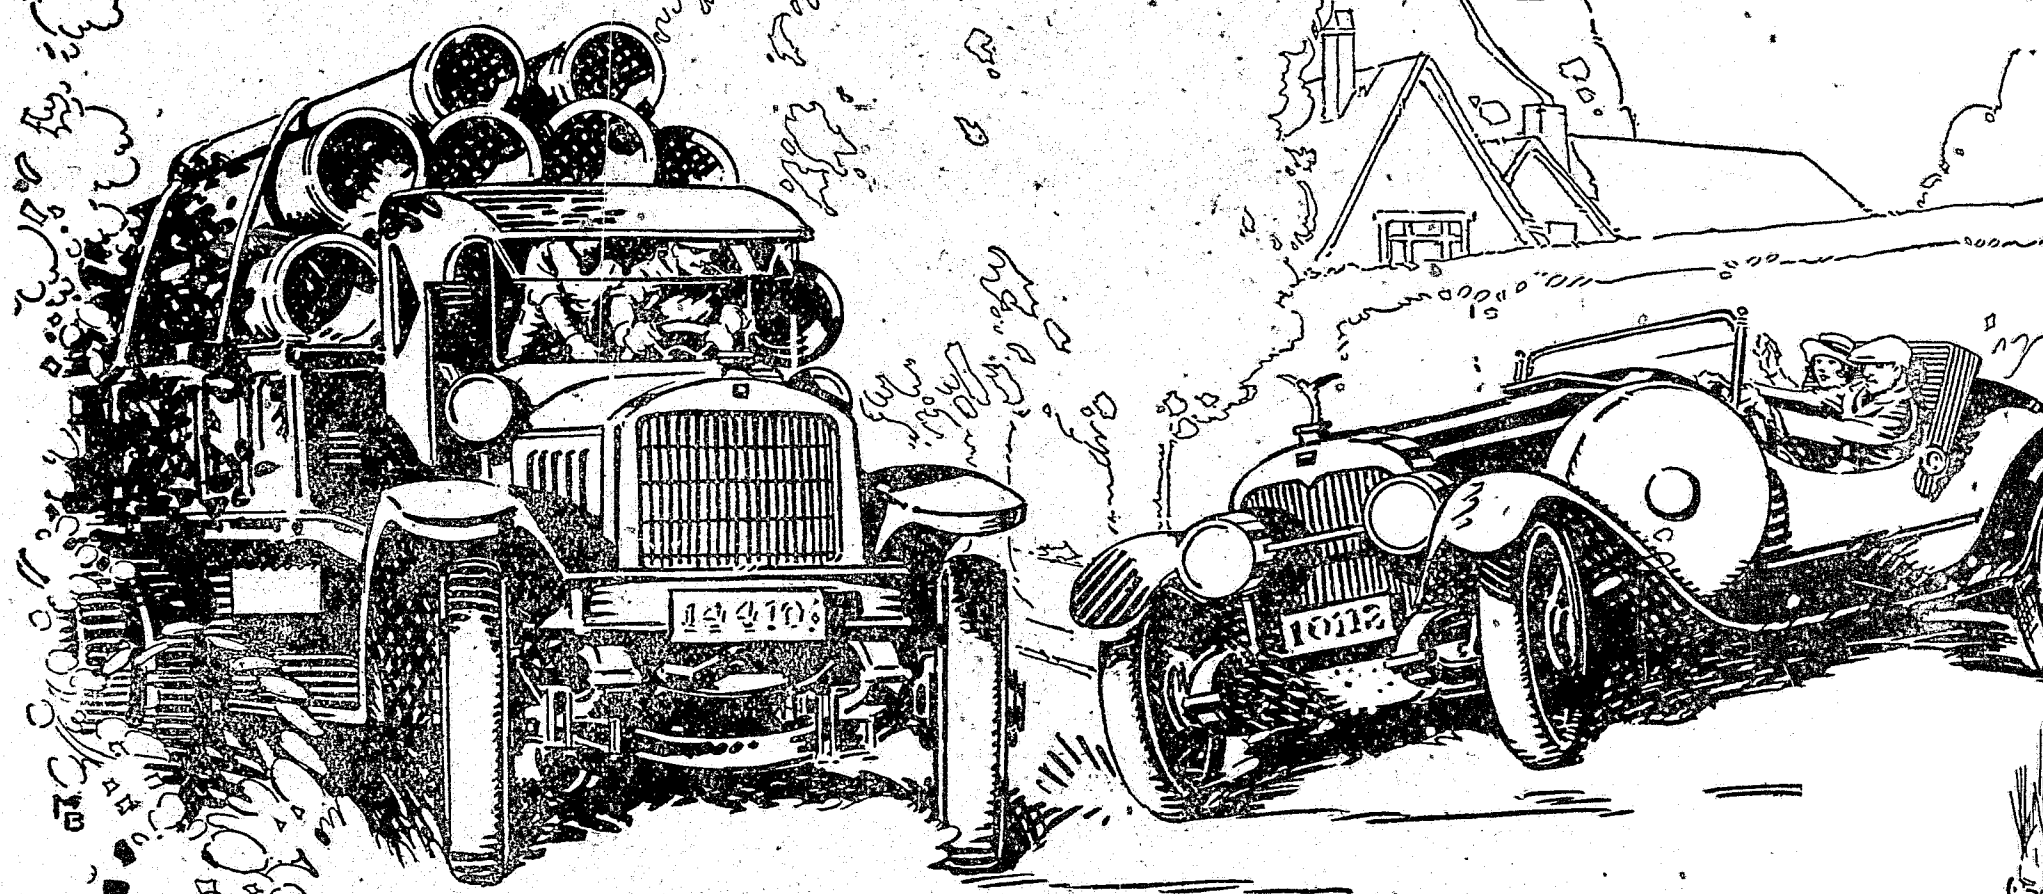

Mrs. Annie Lane of Webster and two Elders of the Mormon Church there were at C. C. Rowe's, recently. They also called on Mrs. W. C. Bosworth.

Harold Pratt has a new Buick six touring car.

The VETERAN MOTORIST gives a few rules of the road

"On approaching an intersecting highway, corner or curve, where his view is obstructed, the driver of a motor-vehicle shall sound his horn and slow up enough to enable him to stop readily if necessary."

(The Veteran Motorist)

ONE afternoon last summer, I was looking out of a store window on the Post Road. A heavily loaded truck happened to be coming along. Maybe a hundred and fifty yards or so up a side street, a low-hung touring car pulled out of a yard and the driver hit it up for the Post Road as though he had to make a train in thirty seconds. Matter of fact, he was just taking 'the sweetest, dearest, etc.' out for an afternoon spin.

"The truck and sport car got to the corner at the same time. No horns, no slowing up. Then a last minute struggle to avoid colliding. I think one of them must have had a horse-shoe under his seat, for it was just about as close as I'd ever seen, or want to. As it was, one of the steering knuckles on the car was snapped in the shuffle.

"Not a reason under the sun for it, just plain carelessness. And that's what causes three-fourths of all motoring accidents today. Take it from me, it pays to stick to the rules of the road nowadays—all of them—all the time."

NORTH WATERFORD

Memorial Exercises

Memorial services were held this year at North Waterford. The first exercises were held in the cemetery, the W. R. C. and two G. A. R. Veterans leading the march and followed by the school children who decorated the graves with flags and wreaths. From there the march led them to the river where the service was held for the sailor dead and the flowers were strewn on the water. Then the line of march was back to the lawn in front of the church where the service for the Unknown dead was held and then all marched to the vestry where a bountiful dinner was provided for all.

After the dinner was over the exercises were held in the church. The color bearers leading with the school children following them. The church was very prettily decorated with flags and potted plants. The Pres. Catherine Saunders of the W. R. C. then announced the following program:

Suite Hymn of the Republic. Choir

R. veterans. A long line of school children with their teachers, Post Commander C. T. Wardwell acted as marshal. Joseph Hunting had command of the Legion.

A. J. Holden presided at the exercises in the Methodist Church and read the first general orders for observing May 30, 1868 as Decoration Day. Lincoln's Gettysburg address was read after which Major Chas. S. Cummings of Auburn was introduced and gave an eloquent address to a large audience.

The W. R. C. served a fine dinner. Mrs. Mabel Greenlaw chairman of the dinner committee.

Mrs. Gertrude Barker of Norway is staying a week or two at her father's, A. J. Holden's, helping with the work as there is sickness in the family.

Mary Andrews of Portland is caring for her sister, Miss Harriet Andrews, who is very feeble.

A good audience was present at the Methodist Church Sunday morning. The baccalaureate sermon was by Mr. Hamlin, the high school teacher. The school made a fine appearance.

The graduation concert and ball will be held at Robinson Hall, Friday evening June 8. Music will be by Pettengill's Orchestra of Lewiston.

Miss Bell Wilson has opened her summer home here. Her sister, Edith Wilson of Auburn, spent the 30th with her.

A large class of candidates were given the first and second degree at the grange meeting, Saturday evening. The third and fourth degrees will be given at a special meeting, June 9th.

Memorial Day

Tribute was paid to silent hosts, May 30th, when under the auspices of the Jackson-Silver Post of American Legion the children as color bearers decorated the graves of our honored dead.

Prayer and a eulogy comprised the exercises conducted by the G. A. R. at the graves.

Following these exercises, Rev. C. G. Miller of South Paris delivered a speech. Year after year Mr. Miller has served in this capacity and also in giving us the baccalaureate sermon, at our high school graduations, and it can well be said that to a receptive mind his talks are educational and inspiring. He is a wonderful historian and has the ability to impart to others the good and beautiful that he has found in this life.

Following his talk, an entertainment was given by the bright little children of our local schools, in which each and every part was rendered in a manner that was a credit to their trainers, Mr. Cole and Mrs. Pacard. Mr. Cummings served as chairman of the day. The local choir rendered some old patriotic songs with Mrs. Fran Davis at the piano while Mrs. Packard was the pianist when the little ones sang. Truly, one cannot serve in a higher capacity in this life than that of training the minds of our little ones for good citizens.

Works All the Soil

Rigs of the John Deere KC shift parallel—shovels always hold squarely to their work and cut full width of each gang—no spots are skipped—the KC works all the soil and kills the weeds.

John Deere KC Cultivator

Drive into the field, stay on the seat and make every adjustment with handy levers.

A perfect "set" made quickly—Lower the rigs with the master lever. Space them the desired distance with the spread lever—they spread equally at front and back. Secure the desired depth with the depth lever—shovels enter ground level and continue level as they are lowered. Deeper or shallower adjustment of front or rear shovels can be made with the tilting lever—a big advantage when cultivating up or down slope.

Quick dodge can be made on crooked rows—pressure on the foot lever guides the wheels and shifts the rigs.
